Overflow Crowd Hears Talk By Gov. Disalle Here Today

Ohio Governor Michael V. DiSalle told an overflowing crowd of Pickaway County Democrats in the Mecca Restaurant dining room today "Ohio's industrial development will lag dangerously unless this state meets the educational requirements of the future."

The Governor was here for an early breakfast meeting as part of his campaign for the November election. Approximately 150 persons attended the Democrat political rally.

In addition to DiSalle, Jerry Rasor of Commercial Point was on hand for a brief talk. Rasor, Democratic candidate for Congressman of the Sixth District, introduced Governor DiSalle to the throng of local Democrats.

The Governor said: "Attendance in our public schools increased from 1,083,230 in 1947 to 1,900,100 in 1960. At the same time, the state's dollar contribution per pupil has increased from $80.23 to $113.20, but the percentage of contribution by the state has increased from 45 per cent of the total expenditures for education to 31.4 per cent."

"BY THE end of 1964, total attendance will increase to 2,161,638. If we should keep the dollar contribution static at $113.20 per pupil, we will be faced in the 1963-5 biennium for the additional students with an increase of approximately $62.5 million."

Governor DiSalle said this makes no allowance for increases in cost which are inevitable as a result of the gradual increases in price levels which seem to continue in this country.

"Some 200,000 will graduate from our schools by the end of 1962 and by the end of 1965 this total will increase to 260,000."

"Ohio must provide a more varied type of educational opportunity which will more than pay for itself in terms of producing a sounder, better ordered and better understood, tolerant existence for all."

"We cannot afford not to do the things which the timid say we cannot afford to do," DiSalle said as he addressed the breakfast session during a campaign swing into five southern Ohio counties.

The Governor was asked if he had another in his series of questions for his GOP opponent, State Auditor James Rhodes. His reply: "I have just one question for our State Auditor. When is he going to answer the two dozen I have already asked?"

The Governor and his party left Circleville shortly after 9:30 a. m. for a mid-morning address at Washington C. H.

Filibuster Knots Senate

Kennedy Satellite Bill Brings Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was called into Saturday Session today in a move to keep the pressure on filibustering foes of the administration's communications satellite bill.

The tactics of the few senators opposing the measure drew a rebuke from Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who ordered the extra session.

Meanwhile, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a backer of the bill, predicted the opposition of the handful of Democratic liberals could be overcome.

Dirksen told newsmen Friday night he didn't believe more than a half-dozen senators were prepared for a sustained fight against the bill. No more than 17, he said, would vote against it.

The measure provides for a private corporation to own and run the U.S. portion of a global satellite system for relaying television, radio and telephone signals.

The public would own half of the firm's stock. Communications companies would own the other half.

Several senators have offered a rival bill providing for government ownership. They contend the administration measure would be a "monstrous giveaway" to a private monopoly of the taxpayers' investment in the government's space program.

With other senate business stalled by the dispute, Mansfield promised to start each day's session early and continue it into the night.

But Mansfield said the leadership is virtually powerless to force action.

If opponents persist in their filibuster, the only way under the rules to halt them—other than wearing them down physically—is to clamp a time limit on debate.

Such a rule—requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting—has not been successfully invoked since 1927, despite numerous attempts to halt Southern filibusters against civil rights measures.

U.S. Plans New Challenge For Soviet on Test Ban

U.S. Readies Nod To Peruvian Junta

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way may be clearing for eventual U.S. recognition of Peru's military government.

Administration officials here learned with interest Friday night of reports from Lima that Peru's military junta was preparing to free deposed President Manuel Prado from custody aboard a navy transport.

The reports came some hours after speculation arose in Washington that the United States was reconsidering its tough position on relations with the military group, which ousted Prado in a bloodless coup July 18.

The State Department has refused to say whether U. S. Ambassador James Loeb, who had been criticized by the junta, would return to his post. Diplomats here said Loeb presumably would not be sent back to Peru. He was summoned here earlier in the week for consultation.

The United States had hoped for a quick commitment by the junta to an early election and some signs of a return to civilian authority. Whether these developments are in the immediate offing remain in doubt, although the military announced Friday night it was restoring civil rights suspended when it seized power.

Washington suspended relations with Lima a few hours after the junta headed by Army Gen. Ricardo Perez Godoy took over. The next day, the White House issued a statement saying the military takeover was a "serious setback" to democracy. Aid to Peru under the Alliance for Progress program was halted.

In Lima, a report from Washington on a possible U.S. change of mind was received by the government as good news.

The 73-year-old Prado's 6-year term of office expires today. He is expected to go into exile in France after being released. Then, the military regime likely would seek from the Peruvian Supreme Court a declaration that it is the nation's legal governing power.

The Peruvian situation is complicated by the fear in some hemisphere nations that military revolutions in Latin America tend to be contagious.

This may be behind Venezuela's call Friday night for a conference of foreign ministers to consider problems posed by the Peruvian takeover.

Polio Vaccine To Be Ready September 30

Medical Association To Handle Oral Drug In City-County Areas

Oral polio vaccine will be available to all residents of the Circleville and Pickaway County area, according to the Pickaway County Medical Association.

Sunday, September 30 will be designated as SOS Sunday, Sabin Oral Sunday, according to Dr. Frank Moore and Dr. H. H. Swope, co-chairmen of the program.

Dr. Swope yesterday said that schools in the area will be utilized as "feeding stations" for the oral vaccine. Times and specific schools will be announced later, he added.

Local physicians will be in charge of administering the oral vaccine. A small fee, twenty-five cents, will be charged for the vaccine in tablet form.

"THIS is the latest in polio vaccine and the medical association hopes that everyone will participate in the program. Medical men report that polio shots have proven 80 per cent effective, while the new tablet form, oral vaccine, has proved even greater effective as a preventive.

Three dates have been set for administering the drug. They are: first, September 30; second, November 4; and third, December 9.

The PC Medical Association is to meet next week to formulate plans for administering the vaccine.

U.S. Marines Pulling Out Of Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is withdrawing from Thailand the remaining 1,800 Marines sent to defend the Southeast Asian nation last May.

No reason for Friday's withdrawal order was given. It apparently signified a lessening of concern in the Kennedy administration over security of Thailand's border with neighboring Laos.

The Marines were sent in when advances by pro-Communist rebels in Laos raised fears they would cross the Mekong River into Thailand.

The Marine withdrawal still leaves about 2,200 Army troops and 1,000 Air Force men and planes in Thailand, protecting other approaches from Laos. About 1,000 Marines were withdrawn July 1.

President Kennedy, in dispatching forces, said the pro-Western Thai government had asked for them to supplement the U.S. Army troops already there to take part in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization maneuvers.

Earlier this week 14 nations signed an agreement in Geneva guaranteeing the independence and neutrality of Laos. A coalition government of pro-Communist, pro-Western and neutral officials has been formed.

Truant Officer Retires After 17 Years Service

Walter Denman, attendance officer for Circleville schools, submitted his resignation for retirement to the Circleville Board of Education today.

Denman, who took charge of pupil attendance problems in 1945, requested that his retirement be effective July 1. The board accepted his resignation.

A replacement for Denman has not yet been announced by the board.

The truant officer notes that he has seen many changes during his 17 years of employment by the school system. Numerous changes have been made in buildings, the number of teachers, and changes in parents and students.

Six new schools, Atwater, Mound Corwin Elementary, S. Court and Wayne Twp., have been added to the system, Denman said.

SUPERINTENDENT George Hartman, commenting on Denman's retirement commended him by saying that "he has traveled more miles, knows personally more people, both pupils and parents, and understands best their special problems than anyone in the Circleville area."

Hartman publicly expressed his appreciation to Denman for his "tremendous job for the schools."

According to R. L. Brehrer Jr., president of the Circleville Board of Education, Denman's replacement will be discussed at the next regular session of the board, scheduled for Aug. 7.

Ike Says He Let Dick Nixon Down

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says his worst mistake as chief executive was political, in not doing more to elect Richard M. Nixon to the White House.

Eisenhower told a news conference Friday that if he would be "fatuous" for any man in public office to claim an error-free career.

He added:

"The worst mistake I made was in not working harder to elect the man I thought should be my successor," an obvious reference to Nixon who was defeated by John F. Kennedy in 1960.

'Miss Ohio' Selection Due Tonight

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Miss Ohio, the young beauty who will represent the Buckeye State in the annual Miss America competition, will be selected here tonight.

Twenty-one girls are entered in the statewide contest for which judging began Friday night. Divided into two groups, one section performed in talent competition and the other appeared in bathing suits and evening gowns. Each group will compete in the other category tonight prior to the Miss Ohio selection.

Topping Friday night's talent contest was Jacqueline Jean Mayer, a 19-year-old Sandusky coed representing Miss Vacationland. She performed a dramatic reading.

Selected as winners in swimsuit - evening gown competition were Elca Theo Swigart, 22, Clinton, Miss Central Ohio, and Carol Ann Martin, 18, Gallipolis, Miss Portsmouth Area.

136 School Boards Urge Income Tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—School boards in 136 communities have overwhelmingly recommended increased state aid to public schools and suggested a state personal income tax to meet the costs.

The recommendations were made in a six-month study project by school boards and community leaders under the sponsorship of the Ohio School Boards Association. Findings of some 300, about one-third of the school boards in the state, will be reported to the General Assembly when it meets next January.

The recommendation for the state to contribute more than its present 33 per cent to finance public schools was made Friday by 96 per cent of the responding boards.

Suggested most frequently as a new source of revenue for education was a state personal income tax. Although all of the boards expressed the need for more money, many ruled out real estate taxes as carrying too much of the load now at 60 per cent.

New Sputnik Launched

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched today the seventh unmanned earth satellite of its current summer series. The launch was announced by Tass, which said the Sputnik carried various scientific instruments.

Concessions To Be Based on Scientific Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is planning a new strategy for the nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva, beginning with a blunt challenge to Russia to reverse its stand against international inspection safeguards.

President Kennedy and his advisers are reported ready to offer concessions in Western conditions for a test ban treaty based on new scientific information on the detection of sneak underground nuclear explosions.

But administration leaders have decided that there is no point in offering these concessions unless the Soviet Government is prepared to enter into serious negotiations on the whole inspection issue.

Kennedy has called U.S. Ambassador Arthur Dean home from the Geneva disarmament conference. The action was announced following a White House meeting Friday between Kennedy and his principal advisers on the nuclear arms race and test ban treaty problems.

Dean, according to plans reported to have been mapped at Friday's conference, will be given full information on the new U.S. scientific findings to take back to Geneva at the end of next week.

This information, according to the recent Defense Department announcement, shows that with new instruments underground explosions may be detected over distances running into many hundreds of miles. Some advanced also have been made in distinguishing between earth shocks due to nuclear blasts.

In the recent past, the United States and Britain, as the main Western nuclear powers, proposed 19 internationally staffed control posts on Soviet territory. The task of such posts would be to monitor earth shocks in the Soviet Union, as a means of detecting evidence of suspicious earth disturbances.

The Western powers also proposed between 12 and 20 inspections a year at the site of any suspicious shock waves.

The new scientific data, Kennedy's advisers agreed, would permit the number of on-site inspections and the number of control posts to be reduced. Some scientific advisers are known to have argued that international control posts inside the Soviet Union might be safely eliminated in the interest of getting a test ban treaty.

However, the White House meeting reportedly produced an accord that it would not be good strategy for the President to send Dean back to Geneva at this stage of the disarmament conference with a complete new package proposal containing the American concessions to the Soviet opposition to inspection.

They felt that since the Soviet opposition is against any international inspection whatever, the real barrier to progress lies in Moscow.

Thus, authorities said, the plan now is to present the scientific findings at Geneva in the hope that this will bring a review and revision of Soviet policies on the critical inspection issue.

Kennedys Observe Jackie's Birthday

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A flock of Kennedys got together today for a birthday celebration—the 33rd for First Lady Jacqueline.

The family made arrangements for a party tonight after taking it easy Friday—aboard boat and water skis—at this scene of many Kennedy reunions.

President Kennedy arrived Friday evening to join in the festivities and to be first to wish his wife "happy birthday."

In keeping with their custom since entering the White House, the Kennedys declared the occasion purely personal and made public none of their plans.

The President wasn't saying what he gave his wife for a present.

Stolen Auto Driver, 3 Ohio Persons Killed

HORSE CAVE, Ky. (AP)—Four persons were killed early today when a stolen car tried to pass a trailer truck and slammed head-on into another auto, state police said.

Officers listed the victims as Paul Houchens Jr., 17, Glasgow, Ky., driver of the stolen car, and three persons from Middletown, Ohio—Edith G. Balon, 54 (1629 Lawa Ave.), Helen Louise Walter, 38, and William Walters, 13 (both 1105 South Main).

A fourth passenger in the Ohio car, Stephanie G. Balon, 11 (1629 Lawn Ave.), was hospitalized with undetermined injuries.

Police said the car driven by Houchens, who was alone, came through Horse Cave going north on U.S. 31W at a speed estimated by Police Chief David Morris at 80 miles an hour. Morris gave chase, but the car outdistanced him and hit the other car 3 1/2 miles north of the city.

The car was reported stolen from an auto dealer in Glasgow, officers said.

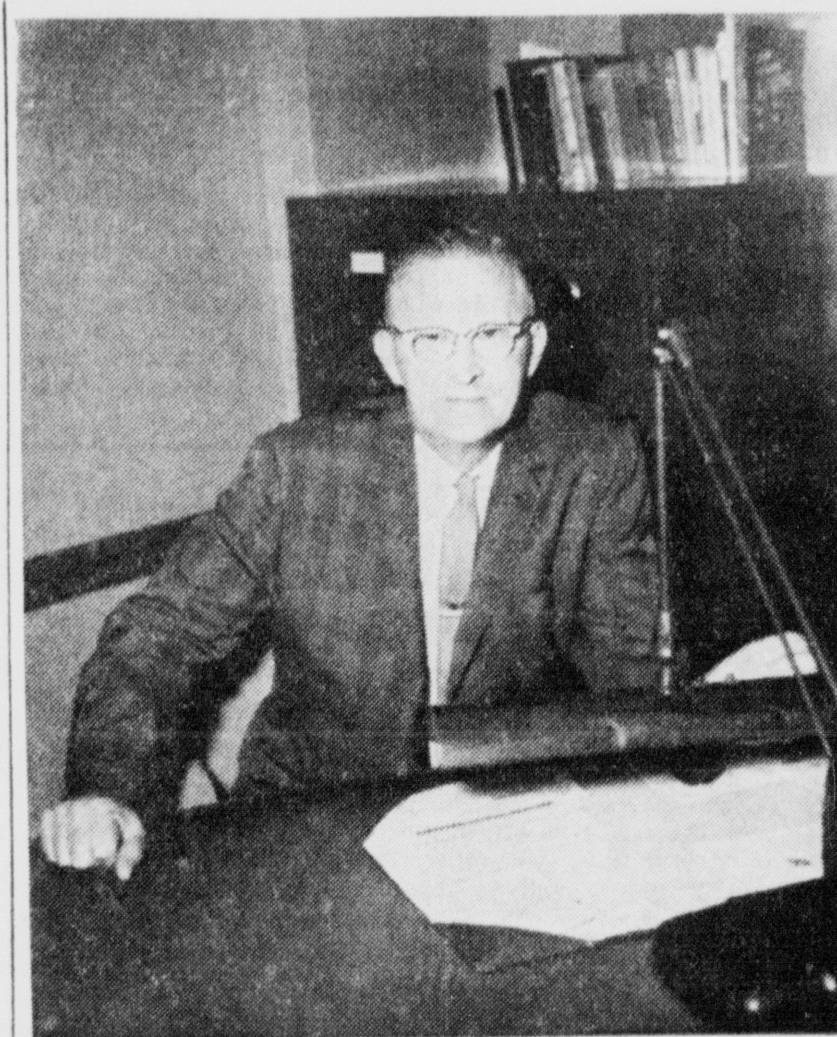

Funeral home attendants identified Mrs. Balon as Stephanie's grandmother and said the boy was Mrs. Walters' son. They were headed south but their destination was not known.

Human Error Costs $12 Million Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An $8 million Atlas-Agena B rocket boosting a $4 million Mariner 1 spacecraft toward Venus was destroyed last Sunday because of a human mathematical mistake.

The error sent the rocket so far off course that radio signals from the ground were unable to correct it and the range safety officer destroyed the vehicle.

Dry Spring Causes Damage To New Meadow Seedings

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Many farmers are finding as they remove their wheat and oats crops that their new meadow seedling didn't make it. The dry spring was just too tough on these new seedlings.

If you were lucky and your seedling came through the dry period, then it can be clipped about the middle of August but not later than September 5. Sweetclover seedlings should not be clipped.

A clipping of a new seedling will make cleaner hay and frequently result in higher yields. If the growth is sufficient to cause smothering, the clippings should be removed.

New seedlings of alfalfa and red clover may be pastured instead of clipped, the livestock should be removed as soon as the growth is eaten low and not pastured after September 1.

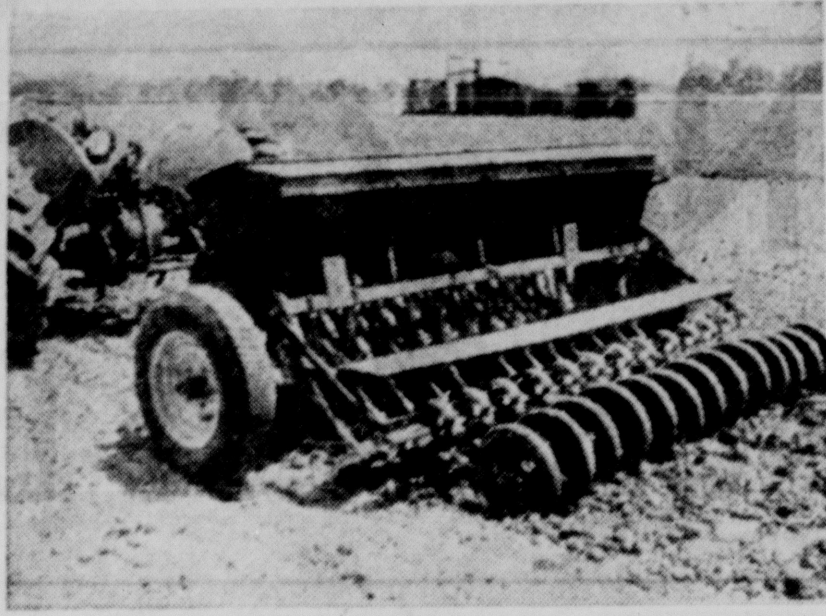

MANY new seedlings are destroyed by overgrazing during the seeding year.

If your seedling did not come through the season then you can make a summer seeding.

Five to seven weeks of growing weather are required for an alfalfa seedling to establish itself in the soil. This would require that the seedling be made near or shortly after August 15.

Red, alsike and ladino clover will not do as well as alfalfa in a summer seeding.

A companion crop should not be used with a summer seeding. Vol-

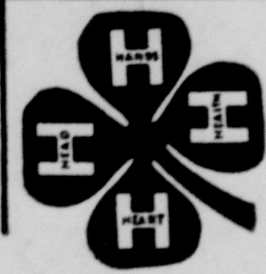

This band seeder will guarantee a summer seeding. Birth Control Pill Is Aid to Fertility

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A pill normally used for birth control is enabling previously infertile couples to have children, says a medical researcher.

Results have not been completely analyzed, Dr. Carl Heller said Thursday. But it is more successful than any other method that has ever been used.

Dr. Heller, in an interview, outlined experiments by a team he heads at the Pacific Northwest Research Foundation here.

The pill is Noethandalone, one of the female hormone compounds on the market as oral contraceptives.

Northern Corn Rootworm Damage Found Here

DAMAGE — Goose-neck or sled-runner corn stalks are evidence of Northern corn rootworm. The silks of the ears are also destroyed by the silk beetle, causing considerable damage if they are cut before pollination. The lower ear of corn, held by County Agent George Hamrick, has had the silks clipped (Staff Photo)

By GEORGE HAMRICK

The first real economically destructive attack of Northern Corn rootworm was noted in Pickaway County this past week.

The Northern Corn rootworm over-winters in the egg stage. The adults are about one-quarter inch long. They are light brown at the time they emerge from the soil and later become uniformly pale green in color.

The adults feed on the silks of the corn. If the silks are cut before pollination, ears with a few scattered kernels will be found at harvest.

In Ohio most corn is pollinated before peak adult emergence and ear damage is not common. However if corn is planted late and large numbers are present economic damage could occur.

THE LARVAE of the corn rootworm attack only the roots of corn. Therefore, any four year rotation that will take corn out of the field for two consecutive years will control them.

Grandma's High Button Shoes Show Up in Latest Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP)—Couturier Guy Laroche believes there is a great deal to be said about the good old days when grandma wore high button shoes, the piano wore a heavy ring scarf, and a few radical ladies wore knee-length pants.

And he said it charmingly as models displayed his fall collection in his little showroom today.

High-heeled, ankle-high suede shoes buttoned up the side formed a whimsical accent to Laroche's culottes and even his more conservative costumes.

Those pants—narrower than the usual deep-pleated culotte—came in suede and even in mink—bordered brocade.

Slim quilted suede coats were worn over sheath dresses made of the same animal skin. Shawls, the piano kind, served as hoods on coats and suits.

Laroche's general silhouette was lengthened with a high defined bust, natural shoulders and waist well-indicated. Hemlines were slightly longer.

Skins of Persian lamb, mink, seal, oter and leopard contributed to pleasant looking creations exhibited at Carven's opening Thursday night.

They included a use of variegated hues both with furs and chiffon; long sleeves with trim pet-shaped wrists, embroidered with jewels or lined with fur; ostrich feather cuffs on an otherwise somber dress; antique gold jewelry with dull gold brocade sleeveless costumes, and evening costumes with sweeping imperial skirts.

Carven says he was inspired by the romantic era of French history, but not enough to give in to low necklines and false crinolines. What he did succumb to was the gentleman's fashion—dandy.

Jackets with long narrow lapels, the redingote with a fitted, high waist, and high-buttoned groom suits.

Narrow shawl collars appeared to be on generously cut coats until the models peeled off the coats. The suits or even the wool dresses underneath were the possessors of the fur-edged necklines.

lamb? Let us name the ways: He uses it as a motorcycle helmet. He uses variegated shades of brown lamb as collar and hat trim. He adds an ermine shawl collar to a black Persian lamb coat. He tops his suits with severe, stovepipe hats made from the fur. Carven puts a blue mink on a gray Persian coat, and so on.

Carven's dresses favored the bust, showing this curve to advantage with cardings, nippers, and melon ribs. His neat little black dresses were touched with shaggy ostrich plume, a glitter of beads, or a band of mink, but not often and not much at a time.

Home Economics Agent

What is a fair? Why do we have one? What purpose does it serve? Many of us never really take time to ask ourselves such questions as these before we attend the Fair. We just go to walk around and look at a few things.

We probably have no particular reason for going to the Fair. We just merely follow the crowd.

Let's stop now and ask ourselves why do we go. To see the side shows? To see the grandstand shows? To play midway games?

To see old friends? To participate in events? To view 4-H exhibits? To view 4-H Club activities?

Many probably already know that a large part of the Fair is devoted to 4-H Club activities. But how many of us know that the first club work exhibited at a county fair went on display at the Morrow County Fair in 1905. This exhibit was made by the Locust Corners Club.

In Pickaway County, as well as in many other counties throughout the state, the Fair is the climax or the greatest time of the year for 4-H Club members and their advisers. They come together as a club and decorate their fair booth. Then individual member projects are judged and graded at various times during the Fair.

It is during the Fair that 4-H Club members are recognized and rewarded for the work which they have done. With hearts held high and beating fast, 4-H Club members proudly display their projects.

Would you like to know why 4-H Club members are so proud this year? If so, you will need to attend the 4-H Club activities, view the booth exhibits, and attend project judging.

We will feel very proud of our Pickaway County 4-H Club members after we see their results.

Home Economics Judging begins at 9 a. m. daily Tuesday through Thursday during the Fair. Here are the daily judging schedules and the project judges:

Tuesday — Let's Sew — Lois Jones, Fayette County home economics agent; Articles to Use and Wear — Mabel Westervelt, Fairfield County Home Economics agent; Cotton Dress — Jean Grover, Ross County Home Economics agent; School Dress I and II — Eleanor MacGregor, Hocking County home economics agent; Sports Clothes, Lounging Clothes,

Telephone usage in the United States has increased 75 per cent in the last 10 years.

Dress Up Dress, Formal Wear, Complete Costume—Emily Marks homemaker from Ross County.

Wednesday — Snacking and Packing — Nancy Richard, homemaker from Pickaway County; Fun with Foods — Beverly Rowles, homemaker from Fairfield County; Quick Meals — Emily Marks; Tasty Meals — Emily Marks; Food Preservation I, II, III and Yeast Breads, Rolls, and Pies — Emily Marks, Nancy Richards and Beverly Rowles.

Thursday — Emily Marks and Nancy Richard together will judge the following projects: Flower Gardening I, II, III, First Aid, Home Furnishings I, Let's Care for Children, Quick and Easy, Clean Clothes, Quick and Personality.

The Grand Style Revue will be presented at 8 p. m. Thursday. All 4-H Club members receiving a grade of "A" in the Home Economics project judging will be eligible to participate in the Revue.

All Home Economics county placings and awards will be given at the Revue. The theme is "Stand-in' On The Corner."

Some of our local talent will provide some musical selections to help make the Revue a success. See you at the Fair! ! !

Goodfield Oats Out Produce Other Kinds

Oat variety plots were conducted on the Joe Wardell and Loring Storer farms this past season.

The harvest of these plots has just been completed. Goodfield, new recommended variety, this year was somewhat superior in yield. However, a more significant point was its very short straw and lack of lodging.

The Goodfield yielded an average of 91.1 bushel per acre, the straw had a height of 29 inches. Only one per cent lodging occurred. The moisture of the Goodfield was 11.85 per cent and a test of 33.8.

Clarion Oats ran a very close second with a yield of 90.9 bushel per acre, however twelve per cent lodging occurred and a plant height of 33.5 inches. The test weight of the Clarion variety was 32.8 with a moisture of 11.6 per cent.

The other variety in the test was Clinton 60. This variety yielded 80.7 bushel per acre, 14 per cent lodging existed with a plant height of 34.5 inches. The Clinton 60 variety had a test weight of 32.9 and a moisture percentage of 12.18 per cent.

These plots were harvested on July 18 and 20.

'Mail Clerks' Hit Dope Ring

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal agents who posed as roving mail clerks were credited today with breaking up a narcotics peddling racket in Chicago's huge mail post office.

George M. Belk, chief of the Chicago office of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau, disclosed some details of the illicit drug traffic in the big postal building which also houses the Narcotics Bureau.

As a result of the months long investigation, a federal grand jury Thursday indicted 38 persons — 30 postal employees, four former employees and four others — on charges of possession and sale of narcotics.

Fire-Police Fund Growing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes in an annual report today said Ohio's police and firemen's pension funds had assets of more than $52 million on last Jan. 1.

This was an increase of more than $5.6 million during 1961 in the assets in the two funds. Police pension and relief funds in 253 municipalities reported assets of $29,027,986, a gain of more than $3 million, and firemen's pension funds in 145 cities showed assets of $23,700,745 on Jan. 1, a gain of more than $2.5 millions.

Dry Spring Causes Damage To New Meadow Seedings

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Many farmers are finding as they remove their wheat and oats crops that their new meadow seedling didn't make it. The dry spring was just too tough on these new seedlings.

If you were lucky and your seedling came through the dry period, then it can be clipped about the middle of August but not later than September 5. Sweetclover seedlings should not be clipped.

A clipping of a new seedling will make cleaner hay and frequently result in higher yields. If the growth is sufficient to cause smothering, the clippings should be removed.

New seedlings of alfalfa and red clover may be pastured instead of clipped, the livestock should be removed as soon as the growth is eaten low and not pastured after September 1.

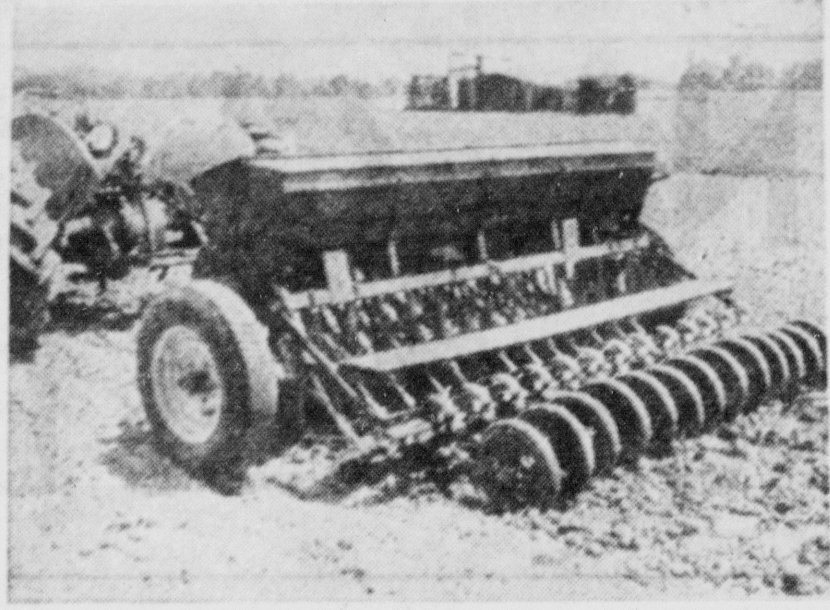

MANY new seedlings are destroyed by overgrazing during the seedling year.

If your seedling did not come through the season then you can make a summer seedling.

Five to seven weeks of growing weather are required for an alfalfa seedling to establish itself in the soil. This would require that the seedling be made near or shortly after August 15.

Red, alsike and ladino clover will not do as well as alfalfa in a summer seedling.

A companion crop should not be used with a summer seedling. Vol-

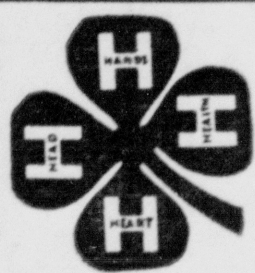

This hand seeder will guarantee a summer seedling. Fertilizer is placed by the drill disk, the grass seed tubes are extended about 12 inches behind and the seed is deposited on top of the soil above the fertilizer band. Homemaker News

By MISS EMMA LOU TACKETT

Home Economics Agent

What is a fair? Why do we have one? What purpose does it serve? Many of us never really take time to ask ourselves such questions as these before we attend the Fair. We just go to walk around and look at a few things.

We probably have no particular reason for going to the Fair. We just merely follow the crowd.

Let's stop now and ask ourselves why do we go. To see the side shows? To see the grandstand shows? To play midway games? To see old friends? To participate in events? To view 4-H exhibits? To view 4-H Club activities?

Many probably already know that a large part of the Fair is devoted to 4-H Club activities. But how many of us know that the first club work exhibited at a county fair went on display at the Morrow County Fair in 1905. This exhibit was made by the Locust Corners Club.

In Pickaway County, as well as in many other counties throughout the state, the Fair is the climax or the greatest time of the year for 4-H Club members and their advisers. They come together as a club and decorate their fair booth. Then individual member projects are judged and graded at various times during the Fair.

It is during the Fair that 4-H Club members are recognized and rewarded for the work which they have done. With hearts held high and beating fast, 4-H Club members proudly display their projects. Would you like to know why 4-H Club members are so proud this year? If so, you will need to attend the 4-H Club activities, view the booth exhibits, and attend project judging.

We will feel very proud of our Pickaway County 4-H Club members after we see their results. Home Economics Judging begins at 9 a. m. daily Tuesday through Thursday during the Fair. Here are the daily judging schedules and the project judges:

Tuesday — Let's Sew — Lois Jones, Fayette County home economics agent; Articles to Use and Wear — Mabel Westervelt, Fairview County Home Economics agent; Cotton Dress — Jean Grover, Ross County Home Economics agent; School Dress I and II — Eleanor MacGregor, Hocking County home economics agent; Sports Clothes, Lounging Clothes,

Dress Up Dress, Formal Wear, Complete Costume—Emily Marks homemaker from Ross County.

Wednesday — Snacking and Packing — Nancy Richard, homemaker from Pickaway County; Fun with Foods — Beverly Rowles, homemaker from Fairfield County; Quick Meals — Emily Marks; Tasty Meals — Emily Marks; Food Preservation I, II, III and Yeast Breads, Rolls, and Pies — Emily Marks, Nancy Richards and Beverly Rowles.

Thursday — Emily Marks and Nancy Richard together will judge the following projects: Flower Gardening I, II, III, First Aid, Home Furnishings I, Let's Care for Children, Quick and Easy, Clean Clothes, Quick and Personality.

The Grand Style Revue will be presented at 8 p. m. Thursday. All 4-H Club members receiving a grade of "A" in the Home Economics project judging will be eligible to participate in the Revue.

All Home Economics county placings and awards will be given at the Revue. The theme is "Stand-in' On The Corner."

Some of our local talent will provide some musical selections to help make the Revue a success. See you at the Fair! ! !

Goodfield Oats Out Produce Other Kinds

Oat variety plots were conducted on the Joe Wardell and Loring Stover farms this past season. The harvest of these plots has just been completed. Goodfield, new recommended variety, this year was somewhat superior in yield. However, a more significant point was its very short straw and lack of lodging.

The Goodfield yielded an average of 91.1 bushel per acre, the straw had a height of 29 inches. Only one per cent lodging occurred. The moisture of the Goodfield was 11.85 per cent and a test of 33.8.

Clarion Oats ran a very close second with a yield of 90.9 bushel per acre, however twelve per cent lodging occurred and a plant height of 33.5 inches. The test weight of the Clarion variety was 32.8 with a moisture of 11.6 per cent.

The other variety in the test was Clintland 60. This variety yielded 80.7 bushel per acre, 14 per cent lodging existed with a plant height of 34.5 inches. The Clintland 60 variety had a test weight of 32.9 and a moisture percentage of 12.18 per cent.

These plots were harvested on July 18 and 20.

'Mail Clerks' Hit Dope Ring

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal agents who posed as roving mail clerks were credited today with breaking up a narcotics peddling racket in Chicago's huge main post office.

George M. Belk, chief of the Chicago office of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau, disclosed some details of the illicit drug traffic in the big postal building which also houses the Narcotics Bureau.

As a result of the months long investigation, a federal grand jury Thursday indicted 38 persons — 30 postal employees, four former employees and four others — on charges of possession and sale of narcotics.

Fire-Police Fund Growing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes in an annual report today said Ohio's police and firemen's pension funds had assets of more than $52 million on last Jan. 1.

Police pension and relief funds in 253 municipalities reported assets of $29,027,986, a gain of more than $3 million, and firemen's pension funds in 145 cities showed assets of $23,760,745 on Jan. 1, a gain of more than $2.5 millions.

Cincinnati Boy Eats His First Meal at Age 2½

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vernon Martin is already 2½ years old but the wonders of small fry delights like ice cream and candy are still in the future for him. He was born with no chance of eating a square meal, and little chance of even surviving his first days. Surgery has restored what nature left out—a throat connecting his mouth and stomach and a connecting link between stomach and intestines. Surgeons at Cincinnati's Children's Hospital early this month completed transplant work to give the youngster a throat passage. He tried his first drink and ate a little liquid food for the first time Wednesday. It will be a while, however, before he gets into the other foods boys his age have long since tried. In more than two years since his birth he has been kept alive by feedings directly through a rubber tube into his stomach. Four operations spread over 28 months were required to repair nature's oversights. Vernon's surgeon had no figures on the rarity of the boy's double trouble. But the missing esophagus turns up in about one of every 10,000 births and the malformed section of intestine is seen in one of every 10,000 to 40,000 births. Vernon's first operation was on March 5, 1960, only three days after he was born. The operation was to insert a rubber tube into his stomach to feed him after problem of the missing esophagus was found. Today, Vernon appears normal except for a small scar at his throat and a long one on his abdomen. The rubber tube into his stomach is still in place for insurance—and because the boy still isn't used to eating.

Railroads Sued By Unions on Rule Changes

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad operating unions have sued to prevent the carriers from changing working rules and threatened to strike unless the railroads called off plans to change the rules.

The nation's railroad management have set Aug. 16 for enforcement of economy changes in operating practices recommended by a presidential commission.

These changes include the elimination of jobs of 13,000 firemen employed on diesel locomotives.

The suit filed in U.S. District Court declared the carriers' action violated the national Railway Labor Act and added:

If the rail management proceeded to put into effect the rule revisions announced on July 17, the unions "will be forced to resist said revisions by asking those who represent . . . to withdraw from service" until management cancels its program.

Spokesmen for railroad management made no immediate comment on the lawsuit or on the threat to strike.

The carriers have contended for years that the working rules resulted in "made work" that was unnecessary, costly and damaging to the economic structure of the carriers. They call such labor practices "featherbedding." The unions maintain the jobs defined in the rules are needed for safe and efficient transportation.

The unions sued for a declaratory judgment setting forth that the changes would violate the Railway Labor Act. The suit also seeks a permanent injunction against the carriers to halt the changes.

The suit was brought jointly by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Defendants listed in the petition are the Eastern, Western and Southeastern Carriers' Conference Committees, the railroads represented by them, and certain individual railroads as representative of a class.

Locust Trees' Brown Color Isn't Blight

Many have noted the brown color of practically all locust trees in the area. This is not a blight, but is caused by the locust leaf miner.

The trees will probably still appear to be more damaged in August as the second brood of those "critters" emerge.

The damage is caused by the beetle larvae eating out the tissue inside the locust leaves. They make no webbing.

On individual specimen trees either diazinon or malathion may destroy the larvae. On large tracts, however, benefit is not worth the cost of control and the trees should recover anyhow.

Miss Wilson also represents the county as a member of the State Farm Bureau Youth Board.

Reluctant Recruit

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — Nine-year-old Mark Downing decided to join the Army but changed his mind when a U. S. Army recruiter called and offered to escort him to his barracks.

Mark secured an application form and filled it in, changing his birth date to make him old enough for Army duty. A few days later when he arrived home, his clothes were packed and the recruiter was waiting.

With tears streaming down his face, the boy said "I don't want to join the Army."

the 4-H pledge.

Roll call was answered by naming a good safety practice. Minutes were read and corrected. Treasurer gave her report. Old and new business was discussed.

Demonstrations were given by Leola Harmon, Barbara Dudleson, and Barbara Martin. A talk was given by Cheryl Hulse. The meeting was adjourned. Next meeting will be July 25, 1 p. m. at the Logan Elm Sunny School.

Dick Powell Expects Lighter Television Fare Next Season

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — These may be dog days in your home town, but this is the time when the television film industry starts working full blast.

The film factories, full of hope and script problems, are launching their new product, which will start reaching the home screens in September. None of the factories is busier than Four Star.

Dick Powell was seated at the long conference table in Four Star's sumptuous offices. Neither of his partners, Charles Boyer nor David Niven, were there, though the latter's Oscar stood on the table. Both had flitted off to make movies in Europe, leaving Dick to mind the store.

He does that well, aided by his ace executive Tom McDermott. Dick himself had been working in one of the 10 Dick Powell shows he will appear in next season. This one is a blockbuster which will probably open the season.

Powell reviewed last season's casualties: The Gertrude Berg Show ("A good series but poor ratings"); "Target; The Corrupters" ("Not the best show in the world, but good ratings"); Robert Taylor's detectives ("We might have gone a fourth year") but the company bounced back with four new shows:

"Ensign O'Toole," a Navy comedy with Dean Jones—"I think it will be the sleeper of the year." "McKeever and The Colonel," another service comedy — in a boy's military school.

"Saints and Sinners," a hard-hitting newspaper series with Nick Adams and top names. "The Lloyd Bridges Show," in which the former snorkler will play a different role each week.

How does Powell view the coming season?

"I think the general run of entertainment will be about the same, with perhaps more emphasis on the lighter side. The only real trend is the decline of Westerns. But they'll come back. They always do."

Mental Fund Is Held Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state controlling board has postponed for a week any action on a request to allocate $4.5 million in unspent mental hygiene department funds to expand staffs in juvenile and mental hygiene facilities around the state.

The delay was granted after House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, said he wanted time to study the request. Cloud said he wanted to determine whether any of the unused funds, left from the last fiscal year ended June 30 and earmarked for personal services, will be used for other purposes.

State Sen. William H. Deddens, R - Hamilton, said he was at a complete loss to understand why the department wound up with $4.5 million while Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has contended that the legislature did not appropriate enough for the department.

Locust Trees' Brown Color Isn't Blight

Many have noted the brown color of practically all locust trees in the area. This is not a blight, but is caused by the locust leaf miner.

The trees will probably still appear to be more damaged in August as the second brood of those "critters" emerge.

The damage is caused by the beetle larvae eating out the tissue inside the locust leaves. They make no webbing.

On individual specimen trees either diazinon or malathion may destroy the larvae. On large tracts, however, benefit is not worth the cost of control and the trees should recover anyhow.

Reluctant Recruit

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — Nine-year-old Mark Downing decided to join the Army but changed his mind when a U. S. Army recruiter called and offered to escort him to his barracks.

Mark secured an application form and filled it in, changing his birth date to make him old enough for Army duty. A few days later when he arrived home, his clothes were packed and the recruiter was waiting.

With tears streaming down his face, the boy said "I don't want to join the Army."

Billions for Colleges

Colleges and universities are working energetically to build up their financial reserves and increase endowment funds to meet outlays they anticipate in the years just ahead. Last year, they raised more than one billion dollars in gifts and donations.

Some institutions, particularly the largest 10, received handsome additions to their expansion funds as a result of active fund-raising drives. Harvard and Yale each was the recipient of more than $40 million last year, for example. Many of the smaller schools are not doing this well relatively.

Last year's donations to higher education were a record; they exceeded the prior year's contributions by 28 per cent. Since 1955, gifts from all sources have grown 177 per cent. This amazing increase was not due to a self-generated spirit of helpfulness on the part of the public, alumni or the business world. It represented a great deal of hard work on the part of the colleges themselves, and their supporters.

It is evident these efforts have paid off. The public is very much aware colleges and universities have been hard hit by growing population and an accelerating demand for higher education. Alumni, always a principal source of funds for the alma mater, have increased the volume of their gifts as their ranks have grown.

Business firms, which once found it difficult to substantiate non-business gifts to stockholders, have increased their generosity to educational institutions. But still larger gifts to education will be needed to finance a heavy percentage of the increasing costs of the future.

Best estimates available indicate that the one billion dollars donated in 1961 must be doubled by 1970, with business and industry contributing one-fourth of the total. It is not an easy task the colleges and universities have set for themselves, but doubling of donations in the next eight years should be no more difficult than the 177 per cent increase they achieved in the last seven.

Force for Good

The individual can still make his or her influence felt in this age of big government and big business.

When Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey joined the government's Food and Drug Administration, her first assignment was to investigate an application for permission to market a sleeping pill called thalidomide.

The drug had already been sold widely in Germany. It was popular. It appeared to be the best sleep inducer yet — effective, non-hangover producing, free of dangers of overdose. But Dr. Kelsey was skeptical. She refused to approve the drug. Her superiors backed her up, despite pressures.

Her reluctance proved a blessing to possibly thousands of prospective parents in the United States. A Hamburg pediatrician discovered a connection between thalidomide and an outbreak of phocomelia in Germany. Victims of phocomelia are babies born with one or more limbs missing.

Dr. Kelsey's fight to keep the drug off the market was carried on almost single-handed in the face of strong criticism. For a while she had only the satisfaction of knowing she was doing what she felt was right. Now she has the gratitude of the people.

Assistant FDA Commissioner Winton B. Rankin says "the American public owes her a vote of thanks." Indeed it does — not only for protecting untold numbers of unborn children, but also for demonstrating that one person can still be a force for good.

Our Moral Survival

By George Sokolsky

There used to be a town called Sodom which the Lord in His eternal wisdom ordered destroyed. From it has come down to us, to this day, the word Sodom and apparently, from ancient times to the present, it is a practice disapproved by most of mankind. Its defenders point to a galaxy of practitioners from Plato to Tchaikovsky to prove that such persons may contribute much to mankind.

It is generally maintained by police officials that apart from the morals involved, the practitioners of various homosexual methods are prone to being blackmailed. In fact, if caught at their activity, they are usually arrested. They are therefore unfit for service in sensitive areas of government, such as the State or Defense Departments.

A correspondent from Washington, D. C. writes me to challenge such a statement:

"By what authority or knowledge do you presume that all homosexuals are so ashamed of their state and activities that they are subject to blackmail on that account? I can assure you, that this is not so. I know many hundreds of homosexuals, and I know that these people are not all subject to blackmail, by any means."

Obviously any person who is liable to arrest for his private habits, whatever they may be, can be blackmailed by the threat of exposure. Were we to have laws passed recognizing homosexuality as a permissible way of life, it would be different. Such a person would walk into the junior miss department of a store and make such purchases as he required. Instead, he devises indirect means to acquire the simplest articles of female attire. I was once told by a woman that she sells her clothes to such a person who acts for others of his peculiarity who require them. Were there no resistance to such habits, such contrivance would not be necessary.

My correspondent tells me: "There are some 15,000,000 homosexuals in this country. There are about a quarter — million in the government service, another 250,000 in the Armed Forces (over a million served well and honorably in World War II), and over a quarter — million with security clearances. The amount of harm or damage done by these people is demonstrably absolutely nil. It exists purely in the minds of those prone to superstition."

These figures are astonishing. There has been no census to establish them. In his wildest enthusiasm for the extermination of the State Department, Joe McCarthy never came up with any figures like this, which, in effect, say that something like 12 percent of the American population is homosexual. If that is so, we must be a very sick race. Of course, child births disprove these figures, but then the homosexuals claim that this is no evidence of their real intent.

I have not known "many hundreds of homosexuals," as my correspondent says he has. Truth to tell, in half a century of roaming the Earth, I have only met four of them and their absorption with the subject was as distressing as watching a fellow eat himself to death, or looking at an alcoholic who has but one thought in mind. This concentration on a function as though it were a great cause has a debasing effect upon the individual.

The only woman of this proclivity whom I encountered was a most brilliant mind and was, in a manner of speaking, respected. Such a person usually is a well-known figure, particularly in her own profession. I have not come across her or her name in years.

I think these figures are exaggerated. Nevertheless, were the figures even near the truth, this country would be faced with a serious moral and social problem which requires serious attention. There can be no question but that the State and Defense Departments should accept the challenge and uncover what the truth is. Homosexuals should be dismissed from these departments because they are subject to blackmail, particularly by Soviet Russia which regards such conduct as punishable hooliganism.

The concentration upon sex is not unusual in post-war periods. This is a problem of physical and mental health, tensions, disappointments and the need to escape from one's own problems. Society usually counters the period of the Georges with strict Victorianism. Society battles self-destruction which homosexuality obviously is. The time has come, in our civilization, when we think of physical survival to consider also moral survival.

Try and Stop Me

ART LINKLETTER, waiting for one of his TV shows to start, suggested to the kids who were his guests that day that they draw pictures of what they wanted to be when they grew up. One lad depicted himself as a plane pilot. Another drew himself in the engine cab of a streamliner. But one little girl just handed Art a blank piece of paper. "I want to be married," she explained earnestly, "but I don't know how to draw it."

A Boston savant with time on his hands listed some famous stars, then chopped off the first letter of each of their first names — with some startling results. Frank Sinatra, for instance, became Rank Sinatra, George Jessel became Eorgie Jessel, Bill Powell became Ill Powell, and Brigid Bardot became Rigid Bardot. I'm sure you can think of additions to this list!

QUOTABLE QUOTES: Adlai Stevenson: There is nothing more horrifying than stupidity in action.

Elbert Hubbard: To be right is desirable. To seem right is imperative.

Jim Hagerty: A word to the wise is infuriating.

Louis B. Mayer: When you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot in it — and hang on.

O. O. McIntyre: There are no illegitimate children. There are only illegitimate parents.

Lin Yutang: When small man begin to cast big shadows, it means that the sun is about to set.

Wax Museum Is New Shrine To Hollywood's Golden Era

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—While Hollywood itself works fitfully at creating a museum for its achievements, a Long Beach, Calif., drug millionaire already is operating a shrine to movieland's golden era.

It's the Movieland Wax Museum, located 30 miles south of Hollywood and Vine in Buena Park.

Why there? "Because it's the hub of the Southern California tourist territory, and because we couldn't find enough room for parking space in Hollywood," explained Allen H. Parkinson, whose brainchild it is.

The museum is just a boysenberry pie's throw from Knott's Berry Farm, which teems daily with visitors from far and wide. A few miles distance is a place called Disneyland.

The museum is in a gleaming white building, and the interior is class throughout. Not only are the stars clothed in elegant costumes of their famous roles; they are surrounded by glamor trappings—Gloria Swanson and William Holden step from a gold Rolls-Royce in "Sunset Boulevard"; Charles Laughton as Henry VIII is helped into a canopy bed by a covey of handmaidens, only they are good. A few miss the mark, as with Alan Ladd, Al Jolson and Tyrone Power. But many are startlingly realistic.

The best are James Dean in a pose from "Rebel Without a Cause" and Ward Bond in his "Wagon Train Getup."

The likenesses are remarkable, considering that they are created solely from photographs.

"Nearly all are made abroad, in Hong Kong, Mexico, Spain and France," said Parkinson. Average cost: $2,500 apiece.

"Come and see Shirley Temple," Parkinson urged. "She just got in from Mexico City." There in a workshop was petite Shirley, peeking out of a wooden crate. She was waxed at age 7, crisp and cute in a pleated organdy dress.

On the future list is Elizabeth Taylor as Cleopatra. The museum has written her for dimensions and photos, hasn't received a reply. But then she has been busy.

Watch Dog Spares Children From Death

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Lightning struck a pear tree in the village of Medvedja and killed a fierce watch dog tied there to keep children from picking the fruit.

Just before the bolt hit, the newspaper Borba said, 17 children sought shelter under the tree but the dog scared them off. The children were unharmed.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE—Americans can't close the door anymore when they solve their family problems. In this, last of four articles on the present state of the economy, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at why American taxes, interest rates, deficits, tariffs—even Ft. Knox—become more complicated problems every day.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—So complex and interlocked has become the American and world economies that if you step on John's toes to day, it may be Bill who yells—or maybe Pierre or Hans.

Much of the world peers over Uncle Sam's shoulder as he tries to decide what to do about taxes, interest rates, Treasury deficits, inflation, American gold reserves, tariff and other relations with the Common Market, and even American wage scales, prices and profits.

Here are the latest figures on how various money matters stand as the big policy debate builds up steam:

The U.S. Treasury collected $81.4 billion, mostly in taxes on corporation and individual incomes in the fiscal year ended June 30. This was an increase of $3.7 billion from the previous fiscal year. Collections go up and down as business prospers or languishes, as personal incomes wax or wane. Even the increased collections this year weren't enough to meet expenditures of $87.7 billion.

The problem at midyear: Should a slow moving economy be perked up by tax cuts for business and individuals, even if this threatens a greater Treasury deficit than the $6.3 billion in the fiscal year just ended?

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

A cargo carrier that operates on two 12-foot "legs" over rough terrain is being designed for the Army by an electrical firm. Obviously intended for use in the infantry?

The new Army vehicle is a bionic anthropomorphic mine. Which is as hard to pronounce as it must have been to invent!

The walking boxcar, 18 feet tall, can not only overcome ground hazards but it should help to scare the living bejabs out of the enemy!

A top Scotland Yard detective has been named chief security officer of London's museums and art galleries in hopes of ending thefts of highly-valuable master paintings. Quick, Watson, the case!

The dodo bird has been extinct since 1861 — Factographs. Long time no see!

The national flower of Japan is the chrysanthemum, according to the office encyclopedia. Zadok thinks that's odd, since the Japs never have gone in for football!

A New Zealand golf enthusiast plays his game on an icefield with a black-hued ball—news item. And any birdies he gets probably turn out to be just penguins!

The size of the deficit, and how it is financed, can affect interest rates for short-term or long-term loans, and thus the flow of investment money to foreign shores and the amount of the gold reserves. Increased sales of U.S. securities tend to sop up some of the supply of investment money and to raise interest rates.

Rates paid to savers have risen this year. Lenders might like to raise charges to borrowers, but at midyear the demand for funds hadn't risen enough to sustain higher interest charges. Higher interest would affect business borrowers, installment plan borrowers, state and community projects, home buyers.

The Washington money managers have been trying to keep short-term rates high enough to discourage the flow of investment money to foreign shores, but long-term rates low enough to encourage growth of the domestic economy. It's a neat trick and the tax cut and greater deficit prospects won't help.

Although American exports cover imports with dollars to spare, they don't make up for the other outflow for foreign aid, military spending overseas, private investment abroad, and travel spending.

For four years the resulting deficit in our balance of payments averaged $3.4 billion a year, and the gold outflow that resulted averaged $1.4 billion a year. But by mid-1962 the deficit prospect had been cut to little more than a billion for the year, and the gold loss so far this year to $529 million.

The health of the U.S. economy as a whole is involved because it, like the size of the Treasury deficit, affects foreign thinking about the future value of the dollar. The specific question is whether to hold onto their dollar reserves or turn them in for U.S. gold.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ART LINKLETTER, waiting for one of his TV shows to start, suggested to the kids who were his guests that day that they draw pictures of what they wanted to be when they grew up. One lad depicted himself as a plane pilot. Another drew himself in the engine cab of a streamliner. But one little girl just handed Art a blank piece of paper. "I want to be married," she explained earnestly, "but I don't know how to draw it."

A Boston savant with time on his hands listed some famous stars, then chopped off the first letter of each of their first names — with some startling results. Frank Sinatra, for instance, became Rank Sinatra, George Jessel became Eorgie Jessel, Bill Powell became Ill Powell, and Brigid Bardot became Rigid Bardot. I'm sure you can think of additions to this list!

QUOTABLE QUOTES:

Adlai Stevenson: There is nothing more horrifying than stupidity in action.

Elbert Hubbard: To be right is desirable. To seem right is imperative.

Jim Hagerty: A word to the wise is infuriating.

Louis B. Mayer: When you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot in it—and hang on.

O. O. McIntyre: There are no illegitimate children. There are only illegitimate parents.

Lin Yutang: When small man begin to cast big shadows, it means that the sun is about to set.

Sign displayed in a Memphis traffic court. "Stop beeping. Think of the many summonses you have deserved, but didn't get!"

They say that the very first pun dates all the way back to the Garden of Eden. Eve asked, "What's wrong with eating this little old apple?" and Adam answered, "I'll bite."

Wax Museum Is New Shrine To Hollywood's Golden Era

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—While Hollywood itself works fitfully at creating a museum for its achievements, a Long Beach, Calif., drug millionaire already is operating a shrine to movieland's golden era.

It's the Movieland Wax Museum, located 30 miles south of Hollywood and Vine in Buena Park.

Why there?

"Because it's the hub of the Southern California tourist territory, and because we couldn't find enough room for parking space in Hollywood," explained Allen H. Parkinson, whose brainchild it is.

The museum is just a boysenberry pie's throw from Knott's Berry Farm, which teems daily with visitors from far and wide. A few miles distance is a place called Disneyland.

The museum is in a gleaming white building, and the interior is class throughout. Not only are the stars clothed in elegant costumes of their famous roles; they are surrounded by glamor trappings—Gloria Swanson and William Holden step from a gold Rolls-Royce in "Sunset Boulevard"; Charles Laughton as Henry VIII is helped into a canopy bed by a covey of handmaidens, only they are good. A few miss the mark, as with Alan Ladd, Al Joison and Tyrone Power. But many are startlingly realistic.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE—Americans can't close the door anymore when they solve their family problems. In this, last of four articles on the present state of the economy, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, looks at why American taxes, interest rates, deficits, tariffs—even Ft. Knox — become more complicated problems every day.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—So complex and interlocked has become the American and world economies that if you step on John's toes to day, it may be Bill who yells—or maybe Pierre or Hans.

Much of the world peers over Uncle Sam's shoulder as he tries to decide what to do about taxes, interest rates, Treasury deficits, inflation, American gold reserves, tariff and other relations with the Common Market, and even American wage scales, prices and profits.

Here are the latest figures on how various money matters stand as the big policy debate builds up steam:

The U.S. Treasury collected $81.4 billion, mostly in taxes on corporation and individual incomes in the fiscal year ended June 30. This was an increase of $3.7 billion from the previous fiscal year. Collections go up and down as business prospers or languishes, as personal incomes wax or wane. Even the increased collections this year weren't enough to meet expenditures of $87.7 billion.

The problem at midyear: Should a slow moving economy be perked up by tax cuts for business and individuals, even if this threatens a greater Treasury deficit than the $6.3 billion in the fiscal year just ended?

Rural Income Supplemented From Outside

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that the nation's farm population earned 34 per cent of its income from nonfarm sources last year.

A new farm income report stressed the importance of non-farm sources of income for those classes as farmers or a part of the farm population. It said that revised figures for last year showed that the per capita income of this part of the population averaged $1,373, of which $474 came from nonfarm sources.

This average income compared with $1,255 reported for 1960 of which $464 was derived off the farm. The department said last year's average was the highest of record. The increase over past years reflected both increases in total farm income and further declines in the farm population.

The department announced that hereafter it will report personal farm income so that it might be compared with personal income estimates developed and published regularly by the commerce department for the full population.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bill for running the nation's farm business is estimated for the first half of this year at an annual rate of $27.5 billion.

In making this estimate, the Agriculture Department said the cost rate is about $600 million above that of the first half of 1961. It said prices paid by farmers for production items, interest, taxes and wage rates averaged about 1.5 per cent higher than a year earlier.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle and calves into eight midwestern corn belt states during the first half of 1962 totaled 2,104,000 head. This was 3 per cent less than in the like period last year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has announced that it will support grower prices of 1962 crop tung nuts at not less than $63.34 a ton, which is the same as last year.

Expert Calls For Corporate Tax Relief

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A cut in U.S. corporate taxes is needed immediately in this phase of the business cycle, a New York University economics professor told the Ohio Savings and Loan Academy Thursday.

Martin R. Gainsbrugh, also vice president and chief economist for the National Industrial Conference Board, said high corporate taxes, unmatched elsewhere in the world result in inadequate profits. He said it leads to insufficient funds for new plants and equipment.

"Tax relief designed to make investment more attractive and to yield a higher net reward for the innovator and the risk-taker would contribute significantly toward private ventures, more investment, more jobs at this critical phase of the current business cycle," Gainsbrugh said.

Joseph E. Linville, executive secretary of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, reported to the academy that fewer Ohioans lose their homes through foreclosures than persons in most other states.

Linville noted that 67.3 per cent of all occupied dwellings in Ohio are owned by the occupants, compared to the national average of 61.9 per cent.

New Welfare Bill Shifts Emphasis for U.S. Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill shifting the emphasis of the nation's welfare program for the needy from the dole to rehabilitation has been signed into law by President Kennedy.

Kennedy said the new law encourages the states to:

Expand rehabilitation of the needy, increase services to children and day-care services to children of working mothers, establish useful work and training projects, guard against misuse of welfare funds for dependent children, and improve welfare administration.

THE OLD ADAGE

An old adage, indeed, that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The "kids" on the farm are models of youthful efficiency. But they go a-fishin' whenever they can. The business men, the housewives, the schoolchildren — they need their fishin' too! But there is another way in which the old adage is true: ALL WORKING and NO PRAYING leaves man a dull soul! The God who created us never intended us to be able to get along without Him. Our hands may sow seed, but they can't make it grow. Our minds may work out problems, but they can't solve the world's chaos. All of our efficiency hasn't brought us lasting happiness or firm hope. But when we turn to our Christian faith, and seek its power through regular worship in our Churches — then we find the things we need and want most!

Expert Calls For Corporate Tax Relief

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A cut in U.S. corporate taxes is needed immediately in this phase of the business cycle, a New York University economics professor told the Ohio Savings and Loan Academy Thursday.

Martin R. Gainsbrugh, also vice president and chief economist for the National Industrial Conference Board, said high corporate taxes, unmatched elsewhere in the world result in inadequate profits. He said it leads to insufficient funds for new plants and equipment.

"Tax relief designed to make investment more attractive and to yield a higher net reward for the innovator and the risk-taker would contribute significantly toward private ventures, more investment, more jobs at this critical phase of the current business cycle," Gainsbrugh said.

Joseph E. Linville, executive secretary of the Ohio Savings and Loan League, reported to the academy that fewer Ohioans lose their homes through foreclosures than persons in most other states.

Linville noted that 67.3 per cent of all occupied dwellings in Ohio are owned by the occupants, compared to the national average of 61.9 per cent.

New Welfare Bill Shifts Emphasis for U.S. Needy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill shifting the emphasis of the nation's welfare program for the needy from the dole to rehabilitation has been signed into law by President Kennedy.

Kennedy said the new law encourages the states to:

Expand rehabilitation of the needy, increase services to children and day-care services to children of working mothers, establish useful work and training projects, guard against misuse of welfare funds for dependent children, and improve welfare administration.

THE OLD ADAGE

An old adage, indeed, that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." The "kids" on the farm are models of youthful efficiency. But they go a-fishin' whenever they can.

The business men, the housewives, the schoolchildren — they need their fishin' too!

But there is another way in which the old adage is true: ALL WORKING and NO PRAYING leaves man a dull soul!

The God who created us never intended us to be able to get along without Him.

Our hands may sow seed, but they can't make it grow. Our minds may work out problems, but they can't solve the world's chaos. All of our efficiency hasn't brought us lasting happiness or firm hope.

But when we turn to our Christian faith, and seek its power through regular worship in our Churches — then we find the things we need and want most!

Make Church - Going a Habit

FORM-FITTING SUIT — Tri-colored bands knitted in a chevron pattern are shown in this suit.

CAMISOLE TOP — A multi-shaded striped skirt sets off the solid camisole top of this suit.

Flattering Beach Styles

By SUSAN BARDEN

Ladies of all ages, shapes and sizes will want at least one of these bathing beauties in their swimwear wardrobes for a summer vacation at the beach or a weekend by the pool.

Whether she already possesses a teeny-weeny bikini and a boy pants two-piecer, the smart woman always includes a well-cut one-piece suit in her traveling bag.

It isn't surprising that this style is popular season after season because it is probably the most figure-flattering that has ever been designed. The one-piece suit is also a favorite with active swimmers both amateur and professional as well as skin divers and sun bathers.

The suits shown here are new versions of a tried and true model. Both are in knits that becomingly mold the figure, are easy to get in and out of, are quick-drying, color-fast and—what is terribly important—they hold their shape through waves and washing machines.

The suits also come in a wide variety of exciting color combinations and show quite a choice of necklines and backlines.

Dior Collection for Fall Is Long, Lean and Lovely

PARIS (AP)—Marc Bohan of Christian Dior proved today that he is a man of his word by introducing a fall collection without revolutionary changes. Styles were simply long, lean and lovely.

The House of Dior, that has in the past de-emphasized busts and ignored waistlines, this year reassuringly emphasized the bust, but not too much, and raised, and at least noted, the waist.

Bohan's general silhouette is long and supple, with rounded shoulders. The back is straight and the front curved. This is the chief departure from other designers this season who have flattened the front and added fullness to the back.

Bohan's sleeves for daytime dresses are long. Hemlines are just below the knee.

Earlier this season, he expressed belief that this was no year for the kind of drastic fashion change for which the house is noted. Much to the unhappiness of the press and the fashion syndicate, Bohan in his enthusiasm for his collection showed some of his models on a recent Telstar broadcast.

These indicated beauty, freshness of detail and originality without anything avant garde.

The theme demonstrated by models with heavily made-up eyes is that it is a small world where distances, climate or season mean nothing in terms of fashion anymore. There were, for example, bulky tweed coats, and fur-lined jackets over bare-armed sheaths. Whatever the models wore, the audience applauded almost constantly.

Among the suits were many hip length jackets with long T-cut sleeves worn over stem or triangle pleated skirts. But the predominant idea was a long jacket, or jumper, that reached to the thigh area of a full skirt. This theme moved from tweedy daytime wear into the evening wardrobe where the silhouette was done up in velvet and brocades.

A large glass measure is a good utensil to use for whipping cream or making pancake batter. You can pour the pancake batter right onto the griddle from the measure!

If fish steaks are less than an inch thick, you may be able to broil them without turning.

It's the seeds of the vanilla bean that give off most flavor; so be sure to slit the bean when you put it into a jar of sugar to make vanilla sugar for use in cakes, cookies, custards, puddings.

Blind Students Given Tour By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-four blind students from Los Angeles got a description of the White House grounds and nearby monuments from President Kennedy Friday.

Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., escorted the students to the White House for a tour conducted by Police Inspector Kenneth Burke.

Burke gave them a detailed description of the many changes that have been made in the executive mansion by Jacqueline Kennedy.

The meeting with the President came as a bonus.

He left his office to shake hands with the students and to speak to them briefly. He started by telling them they were in the White House garden and gave them some details of it. He also described the location of the Washington Monument and the Jefferson Memorial in relation to the White House.

The students are on a 10-week tour of historical sites sponsored by the Foundation for Junior Blind in Los Angeles, a Lions Club project.

One of the students asked Kennedy how he happened "to get in the work you are in."

Kennedy replied that both of his grandfathers were active in public life, and that his father had been active in government.

Use the drugstore wrap on picnic sandwiches. Place a sandwich on a square of waxed paper or foil, draw up two opposite sides so edges meet and fold over several times; now fold over each open side several times.

Know your lobster terminology? The tomalley is the liver and the coral is the roe from female lobsters.

NEW HONEYMOONER — Replacing Audrey Meadows, Sue Ann Langdon will be Jackie Gleason's new wife on his "Honeymooners" TV sketches this coming season.

Jr. Members Meet, Tour Area Gardens

Members of the Circleville Junior Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Howard Smith, 999 Lynwood Ave. for their June and July meeting.

A tour thru the gardens of the following members was enjoyed; Ann Heffelfinger, Karen Holcomb, Marilyn Marshall, Nancy Marshall, Patty Robinson, Timmy and Rod Sines, Jill Bach, Sherrie Bumgarner and Elizabeth Moon.

Various types of flowers were found in full bloom and vivid color. Transportation was furnished by Mrs. Howard Smith and Mrs. Fred Sines.

Mrs. Donald Watt outlined the schedule and qualifications for entry in the Junior Division of the Flower Show for the Pickaway County Fair.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Waldorf salad is popular, so why not try Waldorf sandwiches on your family? Mix together diced apple, celery, coarsely chopped walnuts and well-seasoned mayonnaise; use as a filling between slices of wholewheat bread. Serve these sandwiches just as soon as they are made.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Actions Speak Louder than Words!

DEAR ABBY: Our 20-year old daughter is very serious about a 22-year-old boy. The boy has a good character and we approve of him in every way except one. He is constantly calling our daughter "knucklehead, idiot, birdbrain and numbskull." I suppose he is only teasing her, but it rubs me the wrong way. I feel if they got married it would continue and maybe get worse. He treats her very well and seems to be very considerate of her feelings in all other ways. What is your opinion?

MORRIS TELLER, (Rabbi)
Chicago, Illinois

CONFIDENTIAL TO GETTING MARRIED: The ceremony will be over in an hour, but the hurt could last a lifetime. Ask your sister to be your maid-of-honor.

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: If it doesn't bother your daughter, don't let it bother you. Better this way than to have him call her "darling, sweetheart and honey," and mistreat her.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a mother to open the letters her 17-year-old daughter receives from her fiancé in the service? I know many servicemen who have the same problem.

"A LONG WAY FROM HOME"

DEAR LONG WAY: All mail is the private property of the person to whom it is addressed — and the government postal authorities will back me up on this. If, after the letter is received, the daughter wishes to share it with her mother, that's her business, but no one has the right to open another's mail.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your column about drop-in visits from the clergy: A discussion of the hospital visit may also be in order. Since clergymen are not restricted to regular visiting hours, many of them drop in whenever it is convenient for them, without considering whether it is convenient for the patient or the staff.

Unexpected visits, especially from the clergy, may upset the patient. I think it would be a good idea if the family of the patient advised the clergyman when to visit the patient, if indeed the patient wishes him to visit at all.

Game to Be Played Today

Blue Ribbon Dairy and IOOF will meet at 2 p. m. today for the playoff of a protested game.

If Blue Ribbon wins, there will be no playoff.

Building Supply

Tops Dairymen

The Circleville Building Supply nine downed the Pickaway Dairy Mosquito League team, 21-3, yesterday on the Atwater diamond.

The winners garnered a total of 13 hits — nine of them by Mike Sabine, Mark Davey and Joe Reeser who tagged three each.

Danny Delong, Greg Spires and Marc Lyons hit two each for the losers.

The win gave the Building Supply team a season record of eight wins and five losses — good for third spot in the Mosquito League. The Dairymen have won only one of the 13 games they have played.

DeJohn, Cleroux

Set for TV Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mike DeJohn of Miami and Canadian heavyweight champion Robert Cleroux meet in a scheduled 16-round heavyweight bout to night, but neither fighter expects it to go the distance.

Each has confided he expects to win by a knockout in the nationally televised (ABC) fight at Miami Beach Auditorium.

"I can knock out any guy I can hit," snorted DeJohn, formerly of Syracuse, N.Y. "And from what I hear, Cleroux can be hit."

Cleroux, a slight favorite in his first national television appearance, said, "Let's see how much talking he (DeJohn) does in the ring with my fist in his mouth."

Harness Program Is Set for Two Days during Fair

The speed committee of the Pickaway County Fair has scheduled two big afternoons of harness racing at the fair this year.

The speed program will open at 4 p. m. Tuesday with the 2-year-old and 28 class pace. There are three races slated for each afternoon, with each to be run in two heats.

Following the opening race Tuesday will be the 21 class pace and the classified trot.

On Wednesday the classified pace will open the program. The 25 class pace is next on the agenda followed by the 2-year-old and 28 class trot.

BLANKETS this year will be presented by the Fred Shaeffer Tire Shop, the Ankrum Lumber Co., the Savings Bank, the Circleville Fast Freeze, the Sturm and Dillard Co. and Kochheiser Hardware.

A trophy will be donated for each race.

Officials will include Robert Steele of Columbus, business manager of Scioto Downs Raceway.

He was the presiding judge at last year's three-day speed program at the fair. This spring he was one of the associate judges at the Spring Harness Matinee held at the Fairgrounds.

Associate judges are Gunner Musselman, editor of the Galvin Wire Service and Glenn McCoy. Both were associate judges at last year's event. Musselman was also an associate judge at the Spring Matinee.

Timers are Scott Radcliff, Fred Mace and Steve Jones, all of Circleville.

HANK BUTLER, veteran starter from Waverly, will again be in charge of the starting gate.

Announcer for the first day's race card is Willie Leist of Circleville. Leist has handled the public address chores for several years at the local track.

On Wednesday Phil Maugher, Scioto Downs' race announcer, will take over the verbal race descriptions.

Miss Judy Ankrom, riding Shadrack, will lead the pacers and trotters to the starting gate on the first day and Miss Mary Claire Short will be the outrider on Wednesday.

John F. Fissell is race secretary and Miss Ann Short is clerk.

All the races are overnight events. Two per cent of the entry fee is to be paid by 11 a. m. the day before the race entered. The positions will be drawn at that time.

PURSES are to be divided in 45, 25, 15, 10 and five per cent allotments in all events.

The rules of the United States Trotting Association will govern.

The local committee has reserved the right to call off any race not satisfactorily filled and to substitute races. Speed officials also hold the right of rejecting any entry or altering the order of the planned program.

The speed committee this year consist of Ralph May, chairman, John Fissell, secretary, Sterling Poling and Wayne Martin.

The Pickaway County format, though offering no mutual wagering, still attracts some of the top names in harness competition in the Midwest.

Agricultural society officials note that harness races consistently draw better crowds and more interest than any other event scheduled in the afternoon.

Elliot's Hits

Pace Jet Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steve Demeter loves Atlanta. And he should. The Cracker pitching and ball park are two of the principal reasons the Toronto slugger ranks among the leading home run hitters in the International League.

Demeter has 19 homers this season, six of them at the expense of Atlanta pitching and five of them on the Crackers' home grounds.

He got another one last night, all the margin Ron Piche needed in pitching the Maple Leafs to a 5-0 decision over the Crackers.

Rochester edged Richmond 4-3 and Columbus beat Syracuse 5-3 in the only other games played. Buffalo at Jacksonville was rained out.

Larry Elliot had four hits in as many trips and drove in two runs in leading Columbus past Syracuse. It was the ninth Columbus victory in 13 starts and moved the Jets to within 1½ games of the first division.

Bob Rowe got credit for the Columbus victory, but needed help from Bob Priddy when he weakened in the ninth. The Jets went ahead to stay in the second; a wild throw to the plate let in two runs and Elliot doubled in another.

Roland Gartner of East Stroudsburg, Pa., will captain Penn State's 1963 golf team.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our Mother Mrs. Tessie Crabtree who passed away Jan. 28, 1962.
It has been six months ago today since our loving Mother passed away. Friends may think we have forgotten. When at times they see us smile, they little know the heartaches. That the smile hides all the while. As the days of sickness goes before us. Her memory will always linger in our hearts.
Sadly missed by her two sons, daughter-in-laws, grandchildren, brothers and sisters.

LOADING UP — Four members of the local Ohio National Guard unit load a truck in preparation for a two-week summer training session at Camp Grayling, Mich. To the uninitiated, the early morning scene at the armory on East Franklin St. seemed to be one of mass activity as some men answered roll call, others loaded trunks on trucks, and quite a few said goodbye to their families. (Staff Photo)

Load of Straw Is Destroyed

A trailer load of oat straw was destroyed by fire at about 4 p. m. yesterday at the Circleville-Winchester and Red Bridge-East Ringgold Roads in Walnut Twp.

Circleville firemen and sheriff's deputies said the blaze apparently resulted when one of the trailer tires rubbed against the bed of the silage wagon.

The tractor pulling the trailer was driven by Roger Schneider. The rig was owned by Herman and Mary Hines, Route 4.

Firemen estimated loss at $400. The property was insured, according to deputies.

The trailer was carrying 105 bales of straw. Firemen said the load was nearly destroyed when they reached the scene.

Peru Military Opposes Loeb

Junta Doesn't Want U.S. Envoy to Return

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A campaign by the nine-day-old military junta to keep U.S. Ambassador James Loeb from resuming his post gathered momentum today.

"That man is not coming back," a source close to military President Ricardo Perez Godoy declared.

Perez Godoy served notice Thursday that his regime does not want Loeb here by accusing the U. S. envoy of taking sides in Peru's presidential election last month. A U.S. spokesman in Washington called the charge ridiculous.

Loeb, now in Washington to report on the coup which ousted President Manuel Prado and nullified the elections, had previously denied charges that he aided the American Popular Revolutionary Alliance (APRA).

But Perez Godoy repeated the charges.

Loeb showed preference to one candidate, he said. The candidate Perez Godoy meant was APRA leader Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, hated by Peruvian military men since APRA led a leftist uprising in the 1930s that killed many soldiers.

Haya was front-runner in the election, although he did not receive the necessary percentage of the vote required for victory. The election was to have been decided by Congress, but the military stepped in after charging repeatedly that the elections were fraudulent.

Harvard Refuses $100 'SOB' Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harvard University has turned down a $100 gift offered by the "Sons of Business Society" — which was formed to poke fun at President Kennedy, Harvard '40.

Rep. William H. Ayres, Rep. Ohio, who founded the society, had said the money would be offered to Harvard to set up a scholarship for someone could study "what makes the economy tick."

The funds were raised through the sale of 25-cent "Sons of Business" buttons, which show a sad-faced hound peering out of a doghouse.

Wise Management Of Farm Flock Returns Profits

With fed lambs coming to market in seasonally greater numbers, it is easier to see the difference a little management has on prices, according to David Luckhart, manager of the Bowling Stockyards Co. A No. 2 buck these days weighing 90 pounds brings around $16.50 cwt. Luckhart noted that if that buck had been castrated as a young lamb and fed properly to 90 pounds, he could return $22.50 cwt.

He said that farmers do not castrate buck lambs because they grow faster. But they don't finish out. Due to the lack of finish, a Number 2 buck lamb is worth about $5.00 less per head than a choice grade wether lamb. It does not take much schooling in arithmetic to figure a truckload of 20 buck lambs selling at this price differential would return $100 less than a load of choice wether lambs.

Although some folks still use a small flock of sheep to clean up fence rows, lambs from this kind of management usually do not bring the best prices.

There is a demand for good market lambs this year, says Luckhart. Prices are $4 to $5 cwt. higher than last summer. You can cash in on these prices if your lambs have been castrated, docked, drenched, dipped and fed to proper market weights.

Compromise Is Hinted in Algeria Dispute

Fledgling Nation's Factions Hold Parley To Reach Agreement

ALGIERS (AP)—Algeria's rival political factions were reported today to be moving toward a settlement of the leadership dispute that has divided the fledgling North African nation into two armed camps and raised the prospect of French intervention.

"All is being arranged," informed sources reported. They said an agreement was being worked out in a "climate of confidence."

The optimistic appraisal followed a meeting between moderate Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and Mohammed Khider, special envoy and top lieutenant of radical Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, who awaited developments in Oran.

But there was no official announcement of any progress toward accord and there was no indication of how the seemingly incompatible Ben Khedda and Ben Bella factions intended to iron out their differences.

Ben Khedda's ministers insisted, now as ever, that "we are doing everything to avoid civil war."

The ministers' words appeared to be born out by the absence of any significant military movement on either side. The Ben Bella forces that had been reported moving on Algiers from the west apparently marked time while the talks continued.

Guerrilla units of the various opposing Wilayas (military zones) also were reported to have received firm orders to stop crossing into hostile territory in an effort to minimize the possibility of an armed clash.

But the third major military force in Algeria—the 300,000-man French army stationed there—showed signs of activity again. For the first time since Algerian independence July 3, French army patrols showed up in the streets of Algiers.

The French troops moved in after six more Europeans had been reported kidnapped by Moslems. The move was taken as a sign that France meant business when it warned this week that it might intervene in the Algerian dispute should the lives and property of European settlers be threatened.

Algeria's leaders also were under growing pressure from the Moslem masses, weary of the squabbling that has spread chaos and confusion throughout the country. Political and trade organizations joined in the appeals. The price of unity appeared to favor Ben Bella, who advocates sweeping social reform and close cooperation with the Communist bloc as opposed to Ben Khedda's policy of continued close ties with France.

Some Leaders Not Sure Businessmen Should Be Labeled as Republicans

Editor's note: Following is the last in a series of three articles dealing with the American businessman's role on the political stage.

By ROGER LANE

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some thoughtful friends of the businessman-in-politics movement recoil from the notion that businessmen all should cluster under the banner of the Republican party.

Similarly they feel it is unhealthy for labor unions unduly to dominate the Democratic party.

"It would be a great mistake if the Republican party should ever become the party of business and the Democratic party the party of labor," said James C. Worthy in his book, Big Business and Free Men, published in 1959.

Worthy, then a vice president of Sears Roebuck & Co., said each party, if so dominated, would tend to take extreme positions, and moderating influences within each would be beaten down.

The whole question of the businessman-in-politics is being freshened by the showdown fight between big steel and the government last April and the urgings of such leading Americans as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that businessmen quickly become politically active.

While some businessmen applauded, Thomas R. Reid, Ford

Motor Company civic and government affairs manager, expressed reservations about Eisenhower's statement that he is "proud of the allegation that we (Republicans) are the party of business."

"I wouldn't have phrased it quite that way," Reid said.

"I don't think it's desirable for either major party to be the party of any segment of the economy or our society."

Within the business community there are many divergent views of what—if anything — business should do on political, economic and social questions.

Thus, in taking positions as a corporation on political issues, Ford has limited itself to questions directly affecting business operations, shied away from those like medical care for the aged and federal aid to education.

Direct endorsements and corporate contributions, as distinguished from individual donations, are forbidden by federal law.

Three years ago, Ford, after careful planning and discussions with United Auto Worker Union representatives, began an annual non-partisan solicitation of political campaign contributions from employees.

The giving is strictly secret. At its own expense, Ford mails appeals and pledge cards to its 152,000 employees—at their homes—together with inner and outer envelopes for mailing donations to the party headquarters of the individual employee's choice.

Political organization leaders in several states have endorsed the fund-raising effort, including Neil Staebler, a Democratic national committeeman from Michigan.

Reid said that in the Detroit area Chrysler Corp., Great Lakes Steel Corp. and a number of banks have adopted political contribution plans patterned after Ford's.

James A. Farley, the Coca-Cola Export Co. chairman who is seasoned both in politics and business, says business should "try to put across anything it wants to, provided it's ready to fight it out."

He warns, however, that business risks needless unpopularity if it espouses causes out of step with voter thinking.

OU TV Station Gets Approval

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University officials announced today that the Federal Communications Commission had approved its application for an educational television station on the campus. The UHF station with call letters of WOUB-TV will broadcast on Channel 20.

Work on an 814-foot transmission tower three miles from Athens will start next week. The station is expected to begin television operations about Oct. 15.

The University has operated a radio station, WOUB, for some time, and has been televising on a closed circuit for about six years.

Spencerville Official Is Hit by State Finding

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A finding of $1,027 against Spencerville Village Council President Bert H. Pickering involving conflict of interest laws has been returned by the State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision. The finding Friday involved payment to Pickering, a contractor, for plastering work he did at the city building and other work on the waterworks and swimming pool.

Tax-Dodging Pair Fined $5,000 Each by Judge

CLEVELAND (AP) — Guilty pleas to charges of evading $4,776 in taxes in 1956 brought a Lorain couple, Andy Kelovsky, 50, and his wife, Elizabeth, 45, fines of $5,000 each and five years probation in U.S. District Court Friday. Internal Revenue Service agents said the couple's actual net income for the year was $24,055, on which the tax should have been $6,949.

Two Women Fined for Shoplifting

Two Chillicothe women were cited into Circleville Municipal Court yesterday to face accusations of shoplifting.

Charged with taking two sets of silverware from the Moore's Store, S. Court St., were Jean and Jane Rollins, both 19. Each were fined $75 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

The court suspended the fines and jail terms and placed both on probation for one year.

The women were taken into custody after William Stout, Garden Parkway, became suspicious when he spotted them carrying two unwrapped packages. He made a quick check with Forrest Thomerson, manager of Moore's.

Thomerson, his son Steve, and Stout started in pursuit. The younger Thomerson saw the women crossing Franklin St. He quickly summoned Patrolman Dixie Waters who had just reported in to police headquarters for duty.

Load of Straw Is Destroyed

A trailer load of oat straw was destroyed by fire at about 4 p. m. yesterday at the Circleville-Winchester and Red Bridge-East Ring-gold Roads in Walnut Twp.

Circleville Firemen and sheriff's deputies said the blaze apparently resulted when one of the trailer tires rubbed against the bed of the silage wagon.

The tractor pulling the trailer was driven by Roger Schneider. The rig was owned by Herman and Mary Hines, Route 4.

Firemen estimated loss at $400. The property was insured, according to deputies.

The trailer was carrying 105 bales of straw. Firemen said the load was nearly destroyed when they reached the scene.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University officials announced today that the Federal Communications Commission had approved its application for an educational television station on the campus. The UHF station with call letters of WOUB-TV will broadcast on Channel 20.

Work on an 814-foot transmission tower three miles from Athens will start next week. The station is expected to begin television operations about Oct. 15.

The University has operated a radio station, WOUB, for some time, and has been televising on a closed circuit for about six years.

Tax-Dodging Pair Fined $5,000 Each by Judge

CLEVELAND (AP) — Guilty pleas to charges of evading $4,776 in taxes in 1956 brought a Lorain couple, Andy Kelovsky, 50, and his wife, Elizabeth, 45, fines of $5,000 each and five years probation in U. Two Women Fined for Shoplifting

Two Chillicothe women were cited into Circleville Municipal Court yesterday to face accusations of shoplifting.

Charged with taking two sets of silverware from the Moore's Store, S. Court St., were Jean and Jane Rollins, both 19. Each were fined $75 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

The court suspended the fines and jail terms and placed both on probation for one year.

The women were taken into custody after William Stout, Garden Parkway, became suspicious when he spotted them carrying two unwrapped packages. He made a quick check with Forrest Thomerson, manager of Moore's.

Thomerson, his son Steve, and Stout started in pursuit. The younger Thomerson saw the women crossing Franklin St. He quickly summoned Patrolman Dixie Waters who had just reported in to police headquarters for duty.
